

Enhancing environmental sustainability through inter-disciplinary action

Workshop for early career interdisciplinary researchers

Workshop organised by Early Career Researchers in Socio-Ecological Systems (ECRSES) in association with Aberdeen Centre for Environmental Sustainability (ACES) – Attendee Registration Form. This event is free to attend.

Please submit a form for each person. If you require further information regarding the workshop or application procedure please contact Lesley Kirton (01224274182), email (Lesley.kirton@abdn.ac.uk), fax (44-1224-27-2703), post: ECRSES workshop Application, ACES, 23 St Machar Drive, University of Aberdeen, Aberdeen, SCOTLAND, AB24 3UU. More information available at: www.aces.ac.uk

Registration includes lunch

Attendee's Name: _____ Title: _____

University: _____

Address: _____

City: _____ Postcode: _____

Your e-Mail Address: _____

Phone/Ext: _____ Fax: _____

Your website: <http://> _____

Please attach and email to Lesley.kirton@abdn.ac.uk an abstract (50 words) for a 5 minute oral presentation of how your research experience relates to one of the following themes (stating clearly which theme you are addressing):

- 1) What makes interdisciplinary work successful?
- 2) Obstacles to making an impact with interdisciplinary research
- 3) Evaluating the success and impact of interdisciplinary research
- 4) How can future interdisciplinary work be improved?
- 5) Moving from single disciplines to interdisciplinary research: experiences and lessons